

Director's Corner

Sharing special family traditions, baking and cooking and creating new traditions are important in your child's life. Take time to explain the traditions to your child so that they will one day continue those traditions. Your children will love to hear your childhood memories. The love of family and friends is a cherished treasure we create daily.

From all of us at Apple Tree School, we wish you the peace and love of this Christmas season and a safe and prosperous New Year
